“ When I met Lynn at JCPennney, I felt that we were instant friends. She just took you into her world and showered you with hugs, love and kindness. If you had a problem at work or something personal, she would help you solve it or at least give suggestions to send you in the right direction. And she didn't forget and the next time she saw you, she would ask how things were going.

Lynn loved her family so much. She talked about them all the time with a smile on her face as big as Texas and a love that you could feel. She was usually buying one of them. something just for fun or because she knew they had a need. And she often was making arrangements to do something special with her kids and husband. Dakota at the time was the only grandchild I believe, and she was over the moon in love with him and always had something wonderful for him.

Lynn was very generous with her time for everyone that came her way. I miss my dear friend and a part of my heart beats stronger because of her light that touched my life. My heart also is broken for her dear family that now go forward without her. Please know that she is and will always be watching over you from heaven.

“ I worked with Lynn at Akins in Quincy for a while. She was such an outgoing beautiful person. I have not seen her for quite some time, but I was just in Petco in Moses Lake a couple of weeks ago and thought about her and wondered how she was doing. She always had a smile on her face and a kind word for everyone. My thoughts and prayers to her loved ones. So sorry for your loss.

“ Lynn was an amazing boss and friend to have. She taught that its ok to be wrong, its ok to make mistakes. Its ok to be compassionate to others while being a manager. She took so much faith in my work and made sure i was in a great place for me and my kids. She would litterally give you her shirt off your back. She would always know how to make the most sad person happy. She built up my confidence in so many ways, missing her everyday. She always showed off her grandkids and children with so much pride. I hope one day i can love as much as her. Love you Lynn . Thank you for teaching me the most valuable thing in life. be happy, or fake it till you make it.

“ Lynn was my oldest niece. She was 4 yrs. younger than me. We grew up together, played together. She was always out going and competitive (in a good way). We were close but had gone in separate ways in life. But when we talked, it was about family and how we each were doing. Loved her very much and proud of all she accomplished in her life and with her family. She will be dearly missed but know that she's in God's hands now.

“ My memories go way back. When Lynn landed in Quincy she worked at Akins. Now known as Harvest foods. Her kids were young. She then married Sean. Lost touch for awhile. Then one day I believe if my memory holds me still, anyone can correct date if I'm wrong. She was hired at the Wenatchee Petco to train to be the store manager in the new Moses Lake Petco. I believe that was 2013.

Lynn had a certain flow about herself. She was real easy going and definitely a very easy person to talk to. I for one never been a grooming manager took and learned a great deal from her. Honesty a lot of what I learned was how to professionally in a Manger voice speak to my employees. She was stern but kind it was very effective. Very excellent mentor in the laws of being a manager.

I left Moses Petco to go back to my home Wen Petco. We still kept in touch. Then one day she became the Wen Petco manager. We then lost a very great manager whom I still keep in contact. Great man.

She again became my superior (happy face). I then left after a couple of years in May 2017 to start my own business. From time to time we chit chated. Still hearing her voice brings me back to when I sat in the office with her discussing issues or showing me how to order products for the salon. She will be greatly missed. Her smile her love of life. Love you Lynn.

“ When I worked with her at the Wenatchee JCP we would always share things about my son that was the same age as Dakota her grandson. She would tell me every silly thing he would do and I would do the same thing, she would always give me advises when if I was a single mom. She was so sweet to me and I loved working with her. I remembered we were upset when she left to manage her own store because we didn't want to let her go but we were so happy for her to get her own store! I will miss you Lynn. Even though it was a while since I saw you. My last message from you was on my bday last year. I will truly miss you!
