“ My dad was born in Minot, North Dakota, the youngest child of Bert Welcome and Katherine "Marcella" (Lyons) Sawyer. His family moved to Enumclaw Washington when he was a teen, where he met and married my mom in 1970. My dad raised me after my folks divorced worked in saw mills doing his best to take care of me. He married again and had my little brother Jesse with his second wife...My favorite memories will always be watching HeeHaw and if i was good i got to stay up to watch the square dancers on the grand ole opery. Foot races that he always let me win, and dancing in the kitchen to old country songs. Sadly my dad and I drifted apart while I was serving in the Navy, that ended in complete estrangement 17 years ago, life happens for a reason I suppose, I will treasure the man I knew as my dad, and am thankful for everything he taught me...I'm glad he had someone in his life that loved him and could be there for him, I am sorry for his wife and step son, I truly hope time lessens the pain of their loss...My dad always told me that the same blood runs through my veins as runs through his, I am proud that I am very much my father's daughter. Nothing will ever change that! Aside from my brother and I, my dad is also survived by my son and two daughters, his grandchildren. He is preceded in death by my grandparents, aunt Argie and my oldest daughter. Home sweet home Daddy!
