

Zwaantje "Sasja" Dickson

October 3, 1938 - February 5, 2021

Zwaantje (Sasja) Dickson, beloved wife of Marvin Dickson, passed away in the early hours of Friday, February 5th. She had a number of illnesses but lived happily surrounded by good friends and neighbors at the Basin Retirement Home in Ephrata, Wash.

Sasja was born in Holland and moved to America in the 60's. She met Marvin in Moses Lake where they made a life together and ran a successful business in Pullman Wa. and then later in Ephrata with the Lunch Wagon Café, the Fragrant Way flower shop, and the Gallery clothing store.

After Marvin passed Sasja opened another flower store and worked there until she retired.

Sasja adored posies and many people will miss the pretty flower pictures she posted on Facebook. She had a ton of friends who will miss her dry sense of humor, her random acts of kindness and her enthusiasm for life in general.

Due to the pandemic, no funeral services are allowed at this time, but know she will join Marv at the Ephrata cemetery just as soon as possible.

Tribute Wall

MM

“ Sasja, you will be greatly missed. You were a special soul. ”

Melissa McKnight - June 08, 2021 at 02:20 PM

JU

“ Julie lit a candle in memory of Zwaantje "Sasja" Dickson ”

Julie - February 11, 2021 at 10:52 PM

JU

“ So grateful to have had you in our lives. We were blessed. I am imagining Marv was waiting for you when you arrived in Heaven. Love you both ”

Julie - February 11, 2021 at 10:52 PM

DI

“ Am about sajsa ”

Dianna - February 08, 2021 at 07:46 PM